ELECTIONS

ARE A CON!

VOTE

Parliamentary "representation" is an undemocratic fraud. It is a con-trick designed to hide the fact that this country is ruled by small but massively powerful vested interest groups.

Politicians are their puppets, and have very little power in their own right. And ordinary voters have no power whatsoever. Real power in Britain lies not with the people, but in the hands of the media bosses and in City boardrooms.

Tory, Alliance and Labour politicians hurl childish abuse at each other and squabble about minor details of economic policy. But they are all part of the System and are careful to keep their disagreements within safe boundaries. On the really important issues - such as Britain's subservience to the USA; immigration, and the domination of our economy by the banks - they offer us no choice at all.

With the exception of a few "left-wing" Labour MP's, the whole of parliament supports the occupation of Britain by US troops and nuclear missiles.

Our land is seen as America's "unsinkable aircraft carrier" and we don't even get a chance to vote for a politician who opposes this suicidal madness.

With the exception of a few "right-wing" Tory MP's, the whole of parliament refuses to re-introduce the death penalty, which is the only thing which can halt the rise in sickening child murders and brutal attacks on defenceless old folk.

Every normal person wants the restoration of hanging for the creatures who carry out these vile attacks, but the MP's who are supposed to "represent" us refuse to turn the wishes of the British people into the law of the land.

NO REAL CHOICE

It's the same on every important issue. From the destruction of our economy by foreign imports to the destruction of our identity by immigration; from membership of the Common Market rip-off to effective steps to make our streets safe again - the Old parties agree to do nothing. So you are free to vote for anything - except a real change.

And they have created a mass of obstacles to stop anyone who tries to spoil their "party game" by insisting that politicians should listen to what the voters want.

The election deposit has been raised from £150 to £500, but this doesn't hit the Tories, Alliance or Labour. They have also passed a corrupt law which "entitles" each of them to hundreds of thousands of pounds of taxpayers' money to help finance their petty election campaigns.

This money, together with vast donations from Big Business or Trade Unions, allows the Old parties to spend more than ten times the legal limit on crucial campaigns.

This election will cost the Tories alone more than ten million pounds! Elections are no longer decided by the quality of a candidate's ideas, but by the amount each party can afford to spend on glossy advertizing.

MEDIA INFLUENCE

The influence of the media is even stronger. The press and TV are controlled by a handful of press barons and television programmers, who use their power to sway public opinion to install governments they find acceptable. Any party which threatens their vested interests is either "locked out" by a wall of silence, or smeared and hounded out of existence.

Elections are won by Money and the Media. The only candidates with a chance of winning are those who fit into the Establishment mould. This is the reality of political life in Britain today. No wonder that a third of all electors don't even bother to vote.

DICTATORSHIP

The rule of parliament is nothing more than the dictatorship of the rich and the media. This whole undemocratic System must be changed. But the need for change will only become overwhelming when more and more people refuse to legitimize the farce by taking part in the ballot box charade.

The only chance ordinary people have of getting a real say in the running of their own lives is to organize at a community level to do things for themselves. Things like jobs, schooling and social services are too important to leave them to politicians to meddle with.

Democracy can become a reality in Britain, but only when ordinary people unite to create it. The ideas which are needed already exist. They are summed up neatly in the slogan which forms the basis of the National Front's "Don't Vote" campaign:

PARTICIPATION,

NOT

REPRESENTATION

A Matter Of Principle

THE UNANIMOUS DECISION by an NF cadre meeting not to contest the 1987 General Election marks a new phase in the history of the Nationalist movement in Britain. This new phase is characterized by two factors which the National Front has lacked until now. These are political realism and the courage of our convictions.

Political realism is something the Movement has been all too weak on in the past. The NF has contested five General Elections since its foundation in 1967. In 1979, it handed the British State over 45,000 in lost deposits alone. When the cost of campaign material is taken into account, the total expenditure ran into hundreds of thousands of pounds and valuable man-hours.

If there had been even a slight chance of winning parliamentary elections at that stage in our history, it might have been worthwhile. But there never was such a chance. You only have to look briefly at the way in which election results are determined by the twin Establishment powers of Money and Media, to realize that a truly alternative movement cannot hope to compete in the British "party game" until it has first built its own alternative media and has amassed enormous resources.

For the NF to plunge into one election after another against such ludicrous odds was madness. It made the Charge of the Light Brigade look like a brilliantly executed tactical victory. Small wonder that the NF "troops" finally revolted and kicked out their incompetent "leaders."

REALISTIC STEPS

The new leadership is trying to replace these futile gestures with the attainment of a series of small, but realistic, steps, which are the beginnings of Nationalism's long march to political victory. Putting the NF on a firm financial base and expanding and modernizing our propaganda efforts is only a start; but at least a start has now been made.

The courage of its convictions is also a relatively new quality for the National Front's leadership. This is partly because many of those who went before had no convictions to hold with courage — except for a negative and simplistic racism. But is also true that several former key figures held in private convictions which they knew to be unacceptable to the British people.

The banishment of these totalitarians and Nazis to the political wilderness where they belong, means that the Movement is now able to call publicly for things which its leaders and cadres actually believe in. Genuine Nationalists have condemned parliament and the "party game" for years in private, but only now has the NF found the ideological coherence and the moral courage to speak out publicly.

Parliamentary "representation" is a hoax. It is a cloak for the rule of tiny vested interest groups. It is the negation of true democracy. The situation can only be put right by a revolution in the system of government in Britain. "Representation" by politicians must be replaced by active participation by every individual and by every community.

So now we've said it openly. We do not believe in parliamentary dictatorship. We believe that modern information technology makes rule by the people themselves — direct democracy — the system of the 21st century.

IMPORTANT NOTICE. For more than a year, the National Front has been subjected to massive interference with the post going to and from its main offices. In order to minimize the disruption this State action causes, you are asked to hand in correspondence for every NF operation whenever possible.

If you do have to use the Post Office, always use recorded delivery and keep your receipt safely.

THE TECHNOLOGY FUND is really starting to make a big difference to the National Front. Regular readers will have noticed the big improvement to the quality of much of our typesetting. Many thanks to everyone who has given to the fund this year — it's all due to your generosity.

But if the improvement is to be maintained, we desperately need a second double disk drive Amstrad 1512 computer, and we still need modems to link our computers over the telephone for instant exchange of articles. The continued progress of the Movement depends on us reaching these next targets quickly.

We'll print a full break-down of recent donations, and what we have bought with them, once the election rush has died down. But in the meantime, please dig into your pockets. If all the money which would have gone into fighting futile election campaigns goes into asset acquisition instead, the National Front can take a massive step forward.

It's up to you.

FRONT LINE ACTION

PRESSED INTO ACTION

Straight
point

With this issue of Front Line Action we publish just a few examples of the local press publicity that NF units have been frequently gaining over the last few months. They are an example and the result of the new credibility that the NF is at last beginning to enjoy in areas where local activists take their Community Action programmes seriously.

Too many units still complain about the lack of publicity that the local media give to them, but how can they expect to be taken seriously when they lack the will to get involved in local community politics.

PROVE

The handful of cuttings re-produced on this page help to prove that the National Front are correct in rejecting the corruption and hypocrisy involved in General Elections, in favour of building solid roots in our communities.

Excellent progress is being made in the areas mentioned on this page. Because they are dedicated to effective community campaigning, they are starting to build up solid support amongst their communities, whether it's over a particular issue or for the NF in general.

They do beat about the bush. Politicians Maggie, Neil and the David twins seem to say so much yet so little at the same time. But not so Mr John Shane, Blackpool organiser for the National Front.

He is hot under the collar about drug abuse - and rightly so. And he doesn't exactly mince his words.

In a leaflet distributed at Montgomery High School, the local NF chiefs said: "The National Front is the ONLY political force in the country which would hang the scum who peddle the filth."

That's what I call getting to the point.

NF pull out of election

NATIONAL Front candidates will not contest the next general election in Barking and Dagenham. The announcement came weeks after they selected a prospective Parliamentary candidate, Martin Cross, of Rugby Gardens. Local NF organiser, Henry Milton, said: "We have decided to concentrate instead on our community politics programme."

National Front will not contest election

EAST ANTRIM's National Front candidate David Kerr will not be contesting the Westminster elections.

The National Front will not be contesting the election anywhere in Britain. A decision made following the recommendation of key party officials.

A cadre members' conference endorsed this approach, claiming that campaigns were not cost effective in gaining recruits, the party structure was not fully developed to compete effectively, the party's media was not powerful enough.

But in Ulster the National Front intends to aim for electoral breakthroughs at local government level.

David Kerr claimed the National Front would intervene in the elections in other ways.

"As the time grows nearer, we will be issuing our advice to the electorate and our instructions to our own members and supporters," he said. "This may well mean that we will ask people to spoil their votes rather than cast them for some of the gutless deadbeats, traitors, careerists and prevaricators around today," he said.

"Only Labour can prevent a Thatcher government," he said.

Spoil votes NF tells loyalists

LOYALISTS are being urged by the Ulster National Front to spoil their votes at the next general election.

The NF's Ulster central executive spokesman David Kerr said the unionist leadership was showing moral cowardice.

There had been various ideas from the UDA and the Ulster Clubs, yet the unionist leadership carried on with its ineffective protest, he said, adding that votes should be spoiled "rather than cast for some of the gutless deadbeats, traitors, careerists and prevaricators around today."

Where's democracy?

MANY of us in the National Front are becoming increasingly tired of anti-democratic hacks like Cllr Ron Whitworth, besmirching our name when attacking the policies of a totally different party (Independent, March 11).

Our party, made up of tax and ratepayers, is constantly denied public facilities and rights given to others, and Havering is no exception. To its credit we are invited to the Civics Conference to question the council on its policies and campaign for the interests of local residents.

Perhaps Cllr Whitworth is merely jealous of our success on behalf of the community since his labour group refuses even to attend the conference.

National Front radio talk off

THE BBC has cancelled a live radio programme about the National Front because an anti-fascist group refused to take part.

Radio Cleveland presenter Graham Robb was planning to host a show next week involving NF regional organiser Colin Todd.

But Tyneside Anti-Fascist League chairman Alex McFadden, who had also been invited to take part, protested against the idea of giving Mr Todd airtime.

John Watson, Radio Cleveland station manager, said: "Without anyone from the Anti-Fascist League the programme would have been unbalanced, and we therefore decided to cancel it."

"At a later date we may do a different sort of programme which would not involve a live discussion."

Mr Todd said: "I can understand why they have done it, but think it is unfortunate the BBC has bowed to pressure in this way."

NF schools' blitz slammed

NATIONAL Front activists have pledged to make Blackpool schoolchildren a prime target in their pre-election campaign.

Police were called to Montgomery School in Bispham when Front members were spotted handing out leaflets brand "extremist and racist" by parents.

But the ultra-right wing group says it will continue to distribute pamphlets at the school gates despite parent protests.

Montgomery Headmaster Mr Max Smith slammed the National Front for trying to use youngsters for political ends. He said pupils had been warned over the school's public address system this morning to beware of accepting leaflets at the school gates.

"Any attempt to manipulate and influence the mind of schoolchildren in this way is reprehensible - the curriculum of this school already enables our pupils to evaluate such matters and to treat any crude attempt at indoctrination or persuasion with the contempt it deserves."

Parent Mr Peter McCormick said he was shocked by the "extremist and racist nature" of a leaflet headed "Lies ... damned lies" presented to his 16-year-old daughter.

Mr Wilfrid Smith, chairman of Blackpool and Fylde branch of the National Front, said leafletting schools was part of their routine pre-election campaign and it would continue.

Blackpool National Front organiser John Shane says the group was making a concerted effort to warn youngsters about the danger of drug abuse. The leaflets say the National Front "is the only political force in the country which would hang the scum who peddle in this filth." The leaflet also states that IRA terrorists should be hanged.

"It is part of the children's political education. There is no need why they should not be given the information - it's up to them whether they take any notice of it, we are not trying to twist anybody's arms," said Mr Smith.

He stressed that his members were not trespassing on school property and were doing nothing illegal. The police could only take action if it was considered they were causing an obstruction.

He said many of the children had shown great interest in the leaflets.

An earlier campaign by the NF outside Blackpool schools also brought strong protests.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE?

THIS column is specially designed to keep all N.F. officials well informed of forthcoming activities and to remind them of what needs to be done over the next two weeks.

All N.F. officials and activists must therefore make it a top priority to read this column carefully every issue and then to ACT on the information.

Will comrades willing to monitor specific newspapers and radio and television channels for the Media Monitoring Unit please contact BCM PICADOR, LONDON, WC1N 3XX. This is vital work and can be done by comrades who cannot be as active as others in the struggle.

NF NEWS is always on the look out for new journalists, paste up artists, photographers and artists. You don't have to be expert in these things right now, you merely need to have the inclination to learn such skills as training will be given. These positions are really only open to cadres and candidate cadres.

SEND IN YOUR ACTION REPORTS. Basic details of campaign activities must be phoned PHONED into the Contact Line or Graham. Then post off full reports, with press cuttings etc immediately. Without these reports, we simply cannot do justice to the Movement's campaign in the next issue of the paper.

There are still a number of units who have not yet discussed joining the DISTRIBUTIST LEAGUE with the officials involved. Would they please bear in mind that the LEAGUE is designed to make them wealthy! Therefore let us hear from you in the very near future with your ideas, but do remember that you MUST get National Directorate clearance for your merchandise item first. There will be no exceptions to this rule.

Stay in touch with Administration for the details of the next literature run.

NEWSLETTER 25/4/87

EVENING GAZETTE - 23RD MARCH 1987

Britain 1987

MISERY AND DESPAIR

BRITAIN IS in decline, a decline that is proceeding evermore rapidly as the tyrants of the City, Parliament, Fleet Street and Broadcasting House eliminate the last vestiges of resistance to their corruption and treason.

The material decline is evidenced by a millions strong dole queue that refuses to go away; by the squalor and degradation of huge city slums and urban sprawl; by the wholesale destruction of our major manufacturing industries. The spiritual decline, so visible today, is proof of a widespread despair for our country, for love and for life itself. It shows itself in rising crimes of violence against the weakest elements of society, illustrating thereby the evaporation of any sense of community; it shows itself in the raging epidemic of drug addiction; it shows itself in the toleration of sexual degeneracy even though such degeneracy threatens the very existence of our nation; it shows itself in the horror of youth alcoholism and the suicides of teenagers.

Life has lost its meaning and worth in capitalist Britain. It has ceased to be an expression of love of family, community and country. It has ceased to promote creativity, beauty and tradition, and, instead, is wallowing in a swamp of filth and decadence. Britain has had its throat cut by ruthless capitalists in the boardrooms, and by Marxist class haters in the classrooms. The Nation lays bleeding, its lifeblood ebbing away, and all that the Establishment parties can offer is Bandaid plasters and aspirins. All they can offer is more of the same Parliamentary corruption; more of the lies of a Zionist dominated media; more of the City swindles that have ruined the lives of millions in order that the Few might gain at the expense of the Many.

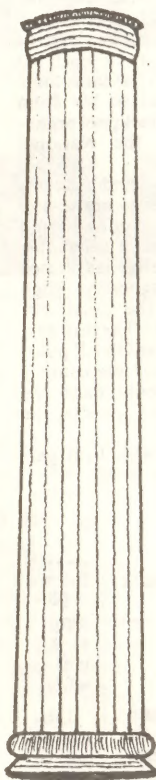

The National Front believes that attempts to reform this evil System are not only doomed to failure, but are also pointless and morally wrongheaded. Such attempts are pointless because the closed ranks of Wealth and Power, which hold this country in servile bondage, are more than a match for the apathy, inertia and disorganization of a despiritualized population. They are morally wrongheaded because it is impossible to reform something that is of its nature intrinsically evil. The system brings Death to all aspects of our society - social, economic, racial and spiritual - and can thus only be fully opposed by Life.

Life is a Vision of how things can be if only our fellow countrymen can rise above the lies of the mass media, and act to bring about a redeeming National Revolution. A Revolution carried out for the People and maintained directly by the People, not their so-called representatives. The NF has a firm grasp of this Vision of Life which will liberate Britain from the shackles of Capitalist exploitation, Communist subversion and the hidden power of the Zionist lobby.

The Four Pillars

Racial Identity

A true Nation is founded upon a common racial background, upon a common history, and upon a common spirit of Love and Life. This thing we call Nationhood is a truly beautiful thing, a creation that has been moulded and refined by sacrifice and struggle on the part of people who appreciate the essence of comradeship and shared destiny. Where Nationhood is fully understood and respected in practise, there will social peace reign, for the end purpose of the Nation is to seek the temporal and spiritual welfare of all its people. It is a force for construction, for co-operation, for sense of purpose.

The immigration into a white European society like Britain, by people coming from the ends of the earth and sharing no common racial, religious, cultural or historical background, can only result in violence and strife in the longer term, for the natural order is being tampered with. Each race has its own natural location. The peoples of Europe have a right to the land of Europe. The various peoples of Africa have a right to the land of Africa, as have the Arabs to the lands of the Middle East. If these rights of Peoples are accepted and acted upon, cordial relations between nations and peoples will result; if such rights are ignored or crushed all will be conflict and misery.

The NF bears no hostility to the immigrant population currently residing in our country since we realize that they are merely pawns in a game being played by international power brokers. We recognize the right of immigrants to maintain their heritage and their lifestyle in the manner that best suits them, and we wish them well. But we demand that this act of national self preservation is carried out in their own countries and not ours. We lay no claim to their homelands, so they cannot expect to lay claim to ours. It is our land that is being stolen from us, it is our rights that are being infringed.

We believe, therefore, that the repatriation of all coloured immigrants, their descendants and their dependants is absolutely central to the revitalization of Britain, for how can we possibly seek the National Interest if the very core of the Nation - its people - has ceased to exist because of high immigrant birthrates or race mixing? Repatriation will not only bring peace to our land, it will also preserve the nationhood of other peoples. The NF is not anti-black or anti-immigrant, it is pro-white and pro-European. It is, therefore, a Movement motivated not by Hatred but by Love.

Our Natural Environment

Once we have recognized that compulsory repatriation will safeguard our racial and cultural identity, we must then recognize that our people do not live in a vacuum, but rather in an environment which has an effect on them, and them on it.

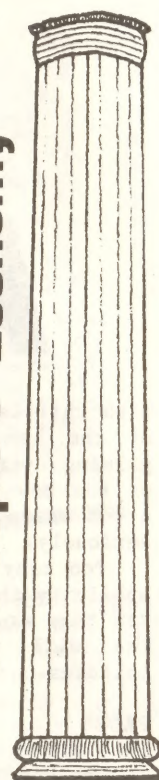

It is clear to all those with eyes to see that the beauty of these islands is being destroyed systematically and without thought for future generations of Britons. This destruction, which is carried out in the name of "progress" or of "industrial growth", has one cause - the quest at all costs for Profit by capitalist corporations. Their love of money has turned vast areas of a once picturesque country into ugly barren wastes that evoke the stench of death and instill nihilism and despair into the population.

Our cities have become square mile upon square mile of concrete tyranny - slums and tower blocks spreading out in all directions, racked by petrol and chemical pollution that diseases and kills everything they touch, and deafened by the noise of an unnatural lifestyle that would wake the dead. The NF believes that the type of environment that a person lives in has a strong influence upon the character and development of that person. Given the soullessness, frustration and ugliness of city life, it is hardly surprising that our people are becoming increasingly soulless, frustrated and morally ugly. The NF believes, therefore, that the war against Nature must be stopped and replaced by a beneficial relationship where Man and Nature live in harmony - each giving and taking what they need without prejudice to the interests of the other.

To that end the NF will embark on a revolutionary programme of environmental preservation which will include:

- * The outlawing of all industrial processes which pollute in any way.
- * The banning of all chemical applications to land and water, such as artificial fertilizers and fluoride.
- * The rapid phasing out of nuclear power in favour of non-polluting energy alternatives.
- * The break up of metropolitan cities in favour of market towns and garden cities.
- * A vigorous "Back to the Land" policy for those with the inclination to return to the Soil and its values.

A People's Economy

In the economic sphere, as with the social, the National Front has a guiding principle: that where possible ordinary people work themselves in their chosen field without reliance upon Big Business interests. It is a fundamental absolute belief of the NF that people should control their own lives and not be subjected to the whims and caprices of the bureaucrat, the policeman. We believe that people should work hardest and most constructively for themselves. The consequence of this we believe is that the land and wealth of this country should be redistributed, away from those who have lived in the luxury for far too long and who have done nothing to earn that position against these financial institutions, the City, the aristocracy, the absentee landowners, we will have ordinary men and women who have up in an atmosphere of deprivation and dispossession.

We believe that Capitalism and Communism are akin to one another since they both concentrate power and economic power in the hands of a Few. The first of these, as History shows, has given rise to the systematic exploitation of Man by Man ever known; the second has perfected the arts of brutality and oppression. We assert that there is a Third Way beyond these two evils. This is the Distributist Ideal, a creed for the small man, the man who makes up the very base of Nationhood. It is a creed founded on the notion that People should make their own decisions and choices in all matters, and not be coerced by sectional interests.

Therefore, an NF government will:

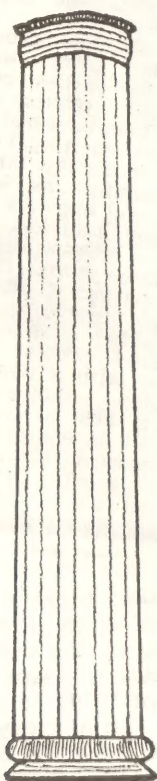

- * Expropriate without compensation huge landholdings and give them back to the people in the form of small family farms.
- * Socialize the means of production thereby giving rise to a mass of businesses, family concerns, worker-operatives and a revitalized System.
- * Nationalize the banks and cancel the National Debt.
- * Expropriate without compensation multi-national company assets in this country.
- * Be guided by the maxim: Small is beautiful!

Defence

The final pillar of the NF's ideological charter follows on naturally from the previous three which preserve the People and Environment, and which give everyone a stake in the building up and maintenance of a prosperous country where National Freedom and Social Justice are the hallmarks of the New State. Having created this state it is only reasonable to promote its defence.

The first point that must be made is that the defence of national interests must be carried out by national forces. It is absurd to count on others to do our fighting for us, and it is equally absurd and dangerous to allow ourselves to be embroiled in other peoples conflicts when our interests are not at stake. British interests must be defended by British Armed Forces under our command alone - otherwise our national independence is nothing but a lie.

As a consequence we would:

- * Withdraw from NATO and all military treaties where British troops are placed under foreign control.
- * Remove all US bases and troops from this country.
- * Maintain a policy of Armed Neutrality, viewing both the USA and the USSR as threats to our national independence.
- * Ensure that the Armed Forces are supplied and maintained only by British companies.
- * Train and arm the population at large so that they may resist tyranny from whatever direction it may come, be it State subversives or hostile foreign powers.

These four pillars are vital if Britain is to survive. Only the NF is committed to their implementation, as the result of this General Election will demonstrate. If the suffering of Britain is ever to end, it is essential that YOU do your bit now because time is running out.

PEOPLE NOT PARLIAMENT

Large numbers of the British peoples are heartily sick of the corruption of Parliamentary democracy. It is evidenced by the fact that something like 20 - 30% of our people will not bother to vote in this General Election, despite the enormous newspaper and television coverage designed to stimulate 'interest' in this non-event. It is further evidenced by the fact that several millions of those who will vote will be doing so not principally because they believe in the programme of "their" party, but because they want to keep another party out of office. It is this negative aspect which has led large numbers to regard voting, the whole sham democracy system to be a waste of time.

For 20 years the NF has been saying that even on major issues - immigration, capital punishment, drugs - the wishes of the people, overwhelmingly clear, have been thwarted by the very people elected to represent them. For 20 years the NF has attacked the duplicity and deceit of Westminster; we have exposed and condemned the wheeling and dealing, the fortunes illegally made, the collusion of our so-called representatives who have made themselves answerable to no-one - least of all the people. For 20 years, the NF fought parliamentary elections in the vain hope that some semblance of democracy could be salvaged from this cruel deception, but the power of vested interests have made this impossible. The NF declares that between Parliament and democracy there is an unbridgeable gap.

CRIMINALS

It is now universally accepted that Parliament is infested with unsavoury types: homosexuals, usurers, abortionists, swindlers etc. Indeed, Parliament is more like a gathering of criminals than the embodied will of the people, but it would be a mistake to believe that the failure of Parliament is due to the guilt of individuals alone. No, Parliamentary democracy could never work because the theory underpinning it is a denial of democracy. If democracy is to mean "the rule of the people", then it means that the people should decide what course of action should be adopted on all matters.

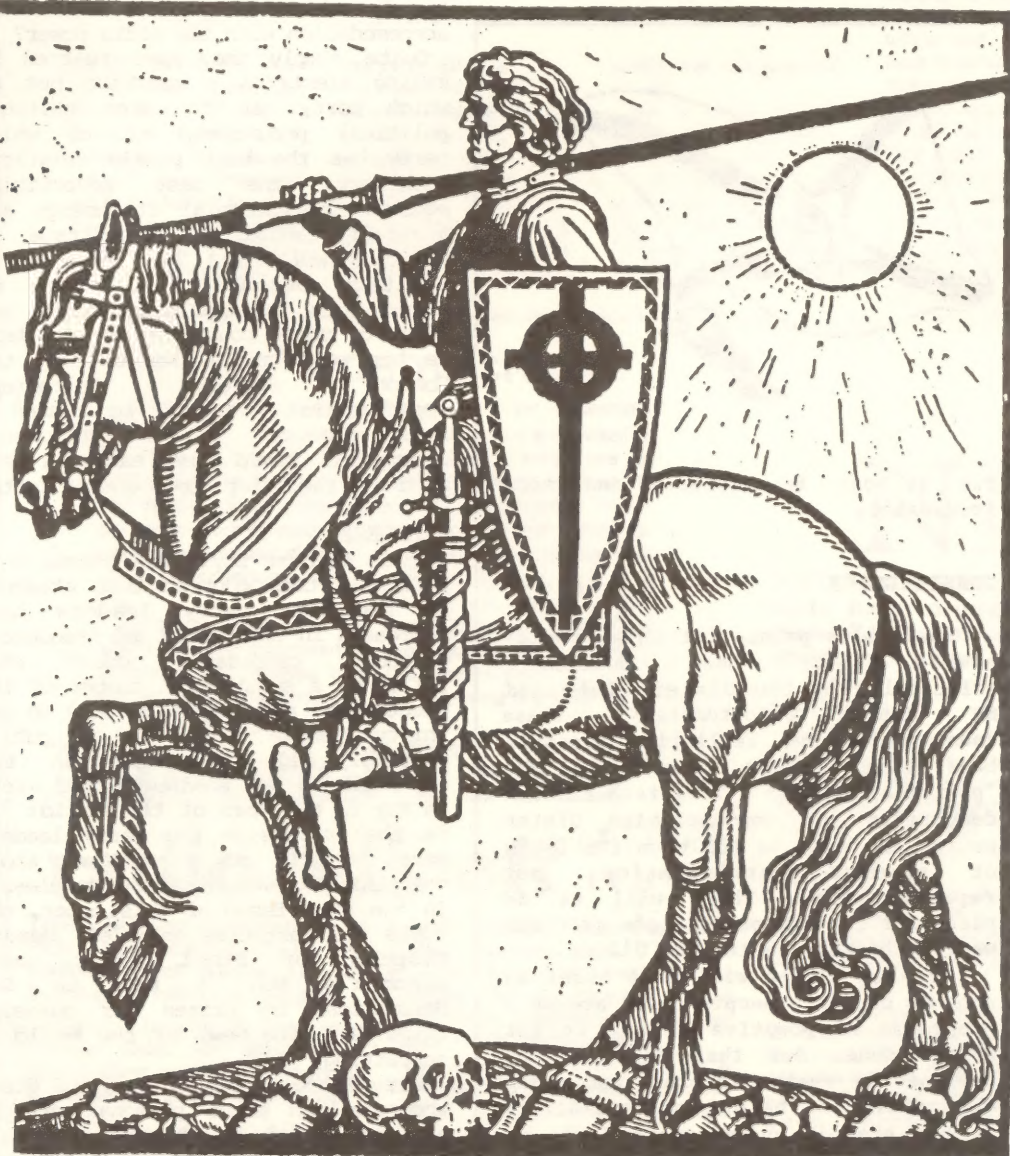

The theory of representation, which is the basis of our system, is necessarily anti-democratic. The theory is that tens of thousands of people vote for one man to represent what he thinks are our best interests; at the end of a parliamentary session if we are not satisfied with his performance, we can remove him. But by then the damage has been done - and besides how many people know the voting record of "their" representative? He may have voted to legalize heroin, or committed this country to war, and all that the people can do, the supposed masters of the country, is wait to vote him out years later. Some democracy!

Our representatives tell us that in an ideal world, everyone could vote on everything, but that in the absence of this ideal, parliamentary representation is the next best thing. However, direct democracy is now being practised in Libya, a so-called dictatorship. Whether a new hospital is to be built, or the price of oil changed, or a war declared, is decided not by Colonel Gaddafi, but by every single citizen organized into local committees in the streets, in factories, schools, universities etc. In this system people are delegated to regional or area conferences to express the wishes of the people. Thus a district may elect Mr Bloomfield to attend a meeting on their behalf, but Mr Bloomfield does NOT vote according to what he thinks are in the interests of the district, he merely reports what his district has decided that it wants and no more. This is "rule by the people", this is direct democracy. If this system was operating here, on everything from the needs of the street and the local community, right up to international relations, the people would decide the policy to be undertaken.

ANTI-DEMOCRATIC

"Our" representatives say that this is not possible because the people don't understand the complexity of the issues. Moreover, they say that it is impracticable to have everyone vote on all issues. What arrogance! Do the people know that coloured immigration is threatening our country? Yes! "Our" representatives apparently don't. Do the people think that executing drug pushers and murderers would make this a safer society? Yes! "Our" representatives apparently don't. Do our people know that the presence of war mongering US troops in this country is a serious threat to our national security? Yes! "Our" representatives apparently don't. So, just who is it that lacks intelligence? It was this patronizing attitude that prevailed when the bosses said that industry couldn't be handed over to the workforce because they lacked the intelligence/skills needed, yet the success of workers cooperatives and family businesses have shown this to be a lie. As for practicality, hasn't the State heard of the computer revolution? Doesn't it know that this revolution could inaugurate a new era of direct democracy? Of course it does, so why no action?

Representation is a fraud, it is anti-democratic. The NF demands that Parliament gives way to local community councils organized by the people and under their permanent control. We are the only force in British politics which says: PARTICIPATION NOT REPRESENTATION! POWER, WEALTH AND ARMS IN THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE, NOT THE CORRUPT!

KINNOCK'S No 1 MAN IN GAY SENSATION

Is Dirty 1

A MODERN PARABLE

In Oxford Street, London, one can often see crowds gathered around hastily assembled pitches. From some of these pitches, men call out inviting onlookers to "Find the Lady". The onlookers are challenged to find the Queen from three playing cards thrown face down and then re-arranged. Sometimes, the tricksters have accomplices in the crowd who come forward and find the right card. Others are encouraged, and they place bets . . . but they lose.

REACTIONS

Like all deceptions, this one depends on the crowd not comprehending the nature of the trick being played on them. Although I have never seen it happen, I can well imagine the reaction of the tricksters to an honest man who sought to explain the trick and urged the crowd to place bets! Do you think they would react violently? Or merely try to discredit the honest man, perhaps by arguing that he was a past poor loser?

More difficult to visualize is the reaction of the crowd to the news that they had been hoodwinked. Some would find it difficult to accept. Resentment would be directed not only at the tricksters, but also at the honest man. Where would their resentment finally rest?

If this is a modern parable, what does it mean? Who are the tricksters meant to be? Who the honest man? Who the crowd? The crowd is the electorate; the tricksters are the media; the honest man is the National Front. But this is not a full explanation. How does the media trick work?

NO CHOICE

The media tricksters lead you to believe that there is a party which represents your views which is contesting the election. There is not. Even if such a party were to stand, the media would always arrange matters so that you would choose one of the other parties in preference. For, as in any matter, your choice is based on the information available to you. The media masters ensure that this information is extremely limited. They also ensure that the information presented to you is done in such a manner as to lead you to a certain choice.

but it can be isolated and made irrelevant.

CONSTRUCTIVE

Basic blue-prints for this process have already been published, principally by the Ulster Clubs and NF News. Unfortunately, these constructive and realistic proposals have been largely ignored by our "political leaders". This is because a democratic and non-sectarian Ulster nation can only be built on the basis of popular participation, not representation. There will be no place for fat-cat politicians or their wealthy backers in the New Ulster.

The New Ulster will come about as soon as ordinary people unite around a programme of positive action to get things done. But that day will be hastened by every Ulsterman and woman who refuses to help give credibility to the present undemocratic farce on June 11th. Whoever "wins" at the election, the real winners in the long run will be the people who turn their backs on the Old System.

Don't Vote - Organize!

YEARS ago some Tory grandee came up with a memorable comment on the theory and practice of dirty politics. "True statesmen," he said, "never demean themselves by stooping into the gutter in search of missiles to fling at their opponents. But somehow, it seems there are always allies whose limbs are more supple."

The remark came back to me yesterday, on opening Rupert Murdoch's News of the World — a journal which my wife does not normally allow to cross her threshold, but which our newsagent evidently sent in mistake for the new News on Sunday.

There, spread across pages two and three, was just about the nastiest collection of alleged "election stories" I have seen in 30-odd years of political reporting. Of the six items on display, three could be classified as legitimate news, and one was a "lift" of a highly dubious report in a sister newspaper. But the two main stories could only be described as straight journalistic ordure.

Of the latter, one was smeared across nine columns, with a double-decker headline announcing "MY LOVE FOR GAY LABOUR BOSS" in enormous letters. It reported that a senior — and named — Labour Party official had a long-standing homosexual with a man father of the child. The mother named men were them regu affectionat

Now, the story — to have the disgusting Fleet Street Wapping day when Party's No one then, World like again — I het me an str th ac to

This is what Richard Verrall referred to when he wrote in July 1979: "What, therefore, is the overwhelming lesson that we have to learn from the General Election of 1979? It is quite obvious. The mass media today constitute the Number One power in British politics. They create the climate of opinion in which elections are fought. They draw up the boundary lines within which inter-party debate is allowed. They determine the issues that will be given prominence and the issues that will be suppressed. They have the power to cast a halo around the head of one political leader and crucify another. They can decide at their discretion to make an election a two horse race and thus dismiss to the sidelines any horse other than the two favourites. They can decide what is truth and what is falsehood."

STYLE OVER CONTENT

The National Front is not the only movement to have realized the power of the mass media — television, radio and the Press — to determine the results of elections, but we have reacted by refusing to play a game in which the odds are stacked against us. How have the Establishment parties reached an accommodation with the media power?

Quite simply they have reacted by making elections a question not of which party has the most suitable political programme, but of which party has the best public relations machinery, the best advertising agency. Controversial statements are avoided; candidates concentrate on policies which all can agree with. Politics becomes a question of style. Mrs Thatcher's hairstyle and tone of voice could be as important as her party's policies on say, the Common Market! Photograph opportunities must not be missed — Neil Kinnock in a children's playground, David Steel eating a meal with his family at home, and so forth.

HELPLESS

It is because style has become more important than content that attempts to denigrate party leaders have increased in importance and frequency. Ordinary candidates could once influence a substantial number of the electorate, now they are lucky to get thirty people along to a public meeting. All eyes are on the television. As Woodrow Wyatt wrote in May in the News of the World: "It is the impression the party leaders make which now matters above everything. Candidates are helpless." In the same issue of this paper, one could read articles entitled: Beauty Elspeth in Steel smear, and Kinnock's No. 1 man in Gay Sensation. No prizes for guessing which party the News of the World is supporting!

Party leaders like Kinnock and Steel who complain about personal attacks and say "stick to the policies" are missing the point. Elections are now about personalities and style — they are no longer about policies. They are no longer about the will of the British peoples.

ULSTER: FOR THE NATION AGAINST THE STATE

A VOTE for any politician standing in Ulster for the Westminster parliament is a vote for the destruction of Ulster. In Ulster, more than anywhere else in the British Isles, it is essential that patriotic Britons do not vote.

Nowhere else has it been more clearly demonstrated that parliamentary "representation" is an undemocratic farce. The by-elections caused by the resignation of our Loyalist MP's served as a referendum which showed that the majority of Loyalists totally reject the Anglo-Irish Agreement. Mass demonstrations by hundreds of thousands of people have shown the same thing. But has the "representative" parliamentary system taken any notice of our wishes? Of course not.

After that, Loyalist MP's boycotted Westminster for some time. They didn't come up with any constructive alternative, but at least this tactic made the point that Ulster is not represented in the London parliament. But recently they have started to drift back to their plush seats in the den of traitors. And they are all helping to add credibility to the myth of parliamentary democracy by standing in this election.

FAT SALARIES

This about turn should make it clear to everyone that these people are more interested in their fat parliamentary salaries than in the preservation of our Ulster nation. Because the truth is that the presence of a dozen or so Ulster MP's makes no difference in Westminster at all. Even if there was a hung parliament, none of the mainland parties would be prepared to grant the only thing which can guarantee Ulster's future: Independence.

The British State is determined to deliver Ulster, bound hand and foot, to Dublin rule. This means that Ulster's British national identity can only be preserved if there is a complete break with the British State. The present system does not represent us and is totally hostile to our interests. Ulster folk must therefore begin now to build alternative self-government structures. The Westminster State cannot be destroyed,

COMMUNITY ACTION

COMMUNITY ACTION is the local campaigning wing of the National Front. The NF believes that people should organize self-help schemes to get things done in their own communities. Every step which reduces our servile dependence on political parties and the "Nanny State" is to be encouraged.

This page exists to publicize and support such initiatives, whether they are organized by active nationalists or by other members of the public.

NF Anti-Mugging Patrol 'great success'

Following our feature on Dagenham NF's anti-mugging patrol in issue 87 of NFN, we are pleased to announce that in the few short weeks since it started, it has become an outstanding success, with the support of large sections of the community.

Although the local police, politicians and media won't admit it in public, the Community Protection Patrol has also indirectly led to a dramatic fall in crime figures for the area.

FORCED TO ACT

Because of the amount of local support the CPP has received, the police were forced to act and have since increased foot patrols in the borough and have made a big effort in expanding Neighbourhood Watch schemes.

As a result crimes such as muggings and sex offences have taken a nosedive.

Naturally, the local establishment are falling over themselves to heap praise onto the police for this success, but local residents, especially those who have worked with the CPP know the real reason why Dagenham has recently become a safer place to live and work in.

Just one useful idea

I AM writing this regarding comments by police spokesman in a national newspaper that street crimes are far down the police list of priorities, and the Post's story of National Front patrols in Dagenham (Post March 4).

While I would not normally give the NF the time of day, or want to see any Charles Bronson type vigilantes on the streets, I feel their 'protection patrol' might be the ONE useful thing they have yet come up with.

Given that there are usually several reports in the Post each week of street attacks, and very few convictions for these offences, it does seem indeed that the muggers are getting away with it.

I hope if the NF do "arrest" someone, who is later convicted, a mention of this will appear in the report.

MUGGINGS DOWN - OFFICIAL!

Just a few weeks ago local residents and local National Front members declared Goresbrook ward a no-go area for muggers. The Community Protection Patrol was formed. Already our actions have paid off.

The latest borough crime figures released by the police reveal how effective our Community Patrol has been.

Official figures show:

Muggings are DOWN 14.3 percent.

Sex offences are DOWN a staggering 41.81 percent!

Furthermore the C.P.P. has forced the police to take notice. At long last the borough's police chiefs are to introduce more local bobbies on the beat!

C.P.P. wishes to thank those who signed our petition calling for better policing of our neighbourhood. If you have any problems, contact Inspector John Francis, on Romford 29212. C.P.P. has proved that community action works. Together we will see to it that Goresbrook ward continues to be a MUGGER FREE ZONE.

We are on patrol

IN REPLY to 'name and address supplied,' who suggested that the motive behind our Goresbrook Community Protection Patrol is to associate muggings with black people.

Wrong. Dagenham is still largely a white borough, with relatively few blacks. Your 'colour theory,' therefore, is merely a 'pigment' of your imagination.

'Name and address supplied' also doubts if our patrols "actually take place." May I suggest rather than sit and scoff, that you do your bit for the community and 'actually' join one of our all night anti-mugger patrols.

Of if you've not the stamina for this, then perhaps you could help us with our petition, already signed by over 300 local people who support our Goresbrook Patrols.

FIGHT BACK FOR BRITAIN!*30p

THE BRITISH PEOPLES ASK:

POLICE

JUST ANOTHER STREET GANG?

POLICING TECHNIQUES in Britain have changed out of all recognition in the last decade. The fatherly image of "Dixon of Dock Green" has been replaced by a sinister and anonymous figure in visored helmet and riot gear. Many ordinary Whites feel that this change was the inevitable result of the tensions created by the multi-racial society, and some right-wingers therefore welcome it. But a closer look at the militarization of the police shows that the need to deal with Black riots has been used as an excuse for a massive "tooling up" exercise which is a threat to us all.

The drive to create a national para-military riot control force began shortly after the Tory election victory of 1979. A year before the first outbreak of nationwide rioting in immigrant areas in 1981, the Greater Manchester Police Force published a policy document which maintained that "the time has come when protective equipment and suitable weapons must be readily available. Riot shields, strengthened helmets and goggles are only the beginning." The Police Federation's next A.G.M. backed this view up with calls for water cannon and new weapons to be issued.

As the use of CS gas in Toxteth in July 1981 showed, these demands were quickly met. Yet before that wave of rioting, there was no public debate as to whether such equipment was needed. According to the press the scale of the violence was unexpected. If that was true, why were the weapons there ready to be used? But if it was a lie, why were the British public not warned of the trouble building up in the largely coloured inner cities?

ARMY METHODS

The truth is that the riots merely provided the excuse to try out the new technology of repression which they had been developing for several years. This owes more to tactics and equipment worked out by the army in Ulster than to the experiences of the ordinary copper.

This convergence of police and army methods can be seen in every aspect of police operations. The computerized Command and Control systems and surveillance techniques which will be exposed in part 3 of this series, are all of military origin.

The most obvious example of this is the rapid arming of the police in recent years. Firearms are now carried by police officers far more often than they are by criminals. Local Tactical Firearms Units are common and the equipment of a police transit van can include pistols, rifles and sub-machine guns. In 1981 the Greater Manchester police took delivery of two HK33 carbines, capable of firing 750 rounds of 5.6 mm ammunition per minute. And in 1984, Leon Brittan allowed the Met. to buy an undisclosed number of the more powerful HKMP5K, which can spray out more than 10 9 mm bullets per second.

The excuse given for issuing these fearsome and indiscriminate weapons was the need to protect Ronald Reagan on his visit to London, but it was later revealed that the initial decision to provide such machine guns was made by the then Labour Home Secretary, Roy Jenkins, back in 1976. Such facts make it clear that what is going on is a deliberate and long term move towards para-military policing, rather than the random acquisition of a few extra exciting toys.

MORE DANGEROUS

The consequences of this will be deadly. As ex-Police Superintendent Colin Greenwood has warned: "the only reason for having sub-machine guns is that they can spray a whole area. We are going to have another situation where the Metropolitan Police are more dangerous than the terrorists."

This is particularly alarming when you remember that the two officers who shot unarmed and innocent Steven Waldorf in 1983 were found "not guilty" - a decision which established the right of armed police to shoot to kill.

Under these circumstances, it is not surprising that a public outcry forced Greater Manchester police to end their round-the-clock patrols by armed officers several years ago. It is interesting that the end of armed policing did not lead to gangs of gun-totting criminals massacring the innocent inhabitants of Manchester. In spite of this, headline senior officers are still pressing for the wider issue of firearms.

ARMoured CARS

Just as the massive increase in the issue of firearms has been largely hidden from the public, so too has the militarization of police transport. A report by the Home Office after the riots of 1981 said that the police should avoid the "pugnacious profile" of military vehicles by protecting regular vehicles "without altering their essentially civilian appearance." For some months after that, it proved difficult to get ordinary Panda cars serviced as the Met.'s repair shops were clogged with vehicles getting armour and poly-carbonate sheet protection.

Helping to direct these armoured convoys, the Met. have three 600,000 helicopters. These are mainly used for surveillance, for which they are fitted with Marconi-Elliott Avionics "Heli-teli" cameras. These relay pictures back to ground control and can pick out car number plates and individual faces in crowds, even at night.

Down on the streets themselves, the police now use NATO designed helmets and round riot shields which are useful for knocking demonstrators unconscious. Water cannon have been rejected as too cumbersome for use in narrow city streets, and CS gas has been found to be too indiscriminate for general use. The favoured weapon of the future is therefore the plastic bullet.

These are far more dangerous than people realize. They have killed more than a dozen people in Ulster, including Portadown NF supporter Keith White. They have also left serious injuries including fractured skulls, blindings and wounds needing 40 stitches. U.S. army research puts their impact energy at 50 yards in the "severe damage region", and at closer ranges at double that. They are designed to be fired directly at people, and are intended to maim and kill from time to time, in order to increase their deterrent value.

SNATCH SQUADS

Riot control tactics developed in Ulster have also been applied on the mainland. These include snatch squads to arrest targeted demonstrators; random stop-and-search operations; roadblocks and wedges. The Army Land Ops Manual, Vol 3: Counter Revolutionary Operations describes the use of armoured vehicles to criss-cross streets at high speed to break up crowds and make selective arrests. This has now been done in English cities and during the miners' strike, as well as in Ulster.

The miners' strike saw the first public test of the new policing techniques. They were coordinated by the National Reporting Centre, which is a poor disguise for a national police force command structure. Its "troops" are also disguised as parts of local forces. 416 specially trained Police Support Units of 23 men, each from one of the 43 local forces, provide a hardcore 10,000 riot squad on permanent standby. Up to 7,000 officers from other forces were on duty in the Nottinghamshire coal field on any one day for most of the strike.

In the first six months of the dispute, they helped turn back 164,508 "presumed pickets" and to detain several thousand of the 9,000 miners arrested during the strike. Whole villages and towns were sealed off; phone tapping and surveillance was commonplace; squads with no identification numbers beat up pickets and local residents. Tory MP Eldon Griffiths, the parliamentary advisor to the Police Federation, made it clear that plastic bullets were being held ready for use.

REAL TARGET

It is very significant that the first real exercise in national riot policing came not in response to Black riots, but was rather part of a calculated attack on the White working class. The strike was against the closure of pits unable to compete with imports of foreign coal. As such it was supported by the National Front as the only possible defence against the sabotage of the British economy by Tory capitalism.

The struggle was to keep life in tight-knit communities which provide one of our most strategically and economically important resources. It was, in every sense, patriotic. Yet it was crushed by a para-military national police force, which has come into being by stealth and deceit. The "justification" has always been the need to deal with the IRA, the Blacks, football hooligans, or some such unpopular group. But the real target is us - the ordinary British people.

The reason is simple. Unpopular minorities are a nuisance, but they can never change the way things are run. That can only be done by the majority, by the mass of the people. It is this fact which causes the British State to "tool up" to crush mass dissent with political police spies and brutal control of the streets.

If the Blacks were any real threat to the profitability of the City of London, or to the peace of the Surrey stockbroker belt, they'd be on the first boat home. But they are not. The only people with the potential to force through revolutionary change in Britain are the British themselves. That is why, to the State, WE are the enemy within.

British Youth : Join the Movement of the Future !

THE NATIONAL FRONT is the Movement of the youth of Britain. Young people from the proud and historic nations of these islands – England, Cymru, Scotland, Ulster and Eire – we are all united in the struggle for National Freedom and Social Justice.

For too long, our lands have been haunted by fear. Fear of poverty; fear of unemployment; fear of getting dragged into pointless foreign wars; fear of the future under a System where only the rich get a chance.

TAKE CONTROL

But now the youth of Britain are organizing to take control of their own future. People are rejecting the Old politicians and their failed Old System. Rejecting the economic "laws" which claim that technological advance and rising productivity create poverty; rejecting the occupation of our country by foreign troops and nuclear bombs; rejecting the waste of unemployment; rejecting idea that privilege can be bought with money instead of being earned by merit.

The youth of Britain refuse to be divided any longer by the materialistic class war hatreds of capitalism and state socialism. Instead, thousands are joining in the struggle for a Third Position – Neither Capitalism, Nor Communism. This is the vibrant new ideology which is needed to make 21st Century Britain a land worth living in.

Our grandfathers were promised a "land fit for heroes," but the ones who returned from the slaughter of two European Brothers' Wars were conned by the fat old politicians. As a result, we live today in a divided, polluted and violent land which isn't fit for animals.

OUR LAND

But we will not be conned. This land is our land. We refuse to sit and watch it be destroyed by corrupt and stupid politicians. We are going to organize the British people to take back control of their own lives and their own future.

It can be done; it will be done. For if the youth of the nations of Britain are united – who can defeat us?
